PRAIRIE VIEW.

The Women's Natilus club, a social and civic organization for the development of community interests, promoted a bazaar in the chapel Saturday evening for the benefit of a sinking fund which will be devoted to the various needs arising from time to time and for which there are no special provisions made. The affair which proved quite a diversion for the residents as well as for the student body in a social way, netted a neat little sum for the treasury of the club. Mrs. L. E. Osborne, wife of the principal and president of the Natilus club, is in quite an active spirit in promoting the work of the organization. Among the note worthy achievements of this club are the repairs, painting and furnishing of the children's school, the planning and execution of a summer vacation trip to the Galveston beach for all those remaining on the campus during the month of August, which is an annual event; and numerous charitable acts toward decrepit and aged residents in the surrounding vicinity. The organization continues to grow in solidarity and strength of purpose.

The Doses club, an organization composed of some of the younger married couples, Mrs. H. J. Mason, president; Mrs. E. C. Ellison, secretary and Prof. C. H. Waller, treasurer and which exists for the purpose of enlightening the social life of the younger set as well as for looking after the social entertainment of visitors who may stop over in this place for any length of time, is planning an interesting series of entertainments for the Christmas holidays. Last year this club had what was known as a trip around the world, consisting of a sequence of meetings at the home of each member of the club. The proved quite a novel thing and rather enjoyable, according to report. Frequently there are friends from Houston and other towns who are guests of this club thus affording an opportunity for creating and cementing friendly relations among such persons as may be there in this way.

There will be no interim for the Christmas holidays except for one day and school will continue in its normal course. The principal and faculty together with the administrative council have found it to be both financially and otherwise undesirable from the students angle to interrupt the continuity of their study by any prolonged interval of vacation.

Miss C. B. Mays, one of the leading vocal artists of the race, from Texarkana, Arkansas, entertained the school here Tuesday night, Dec. 19. This was the first time of the kind the students have enjoyed for some time and they all rather liked it.

Mr. B. F. Lee, chairman of the entertainment committee, has tentatively announced that he is arranging to provide a moving picture show for the campus folks for every Friday night or twice a month from now on until the close of school. This announcement met the hearty approval of both students and residents.

Owing to the repeated requests from students for financial help, which is unavailable, the local alumni are considering ways and means of providing a student loan fund for
